

Winter Sports Crowds Continue Coming

MANY WONDER AT WINTER PARK'S MAGNITUDE

When we find people returning week after week to Grayling for winter sports, we cannot help but more fully realize that Grayling has something that is in natural demand. They come here for the recreation that is not only enjoyable, but is healthful as well. Just to breathe deeply the air of the north, scented, as it is, with the odor of balsam and pine, one just adds health with every breath.

Here they came again Sunday in thousands, everyone in a spirit of fun and adventure. Such happy throngs would be hard to assemble for any other purpose. Never having had the pleasure of a trip on one of Paul Henry's snowtrains, we can't say anything about them, but we understand that that too is a big part of the day for the excursionists.

Four snowtrains brot 1,640 paid passengers. The two Detroit trains brot 887; the Jackson train 361 and the Lansing train 400. The day was perfect for winter sports. At the big park every feature was in full operation and there was something to do for everyone who wanted winter play.

The train from Jackson was first to arrive and soon the multi-colored clad crowd came pouring out of the train and climbed into trucks or buses and were whisked away to the winter park, two miles south-west of Grayling. Apparently the open trucks are preferred to the closed school buses. We wish every one of our readers could be here and see one of these snow trains arrive and watch the crowd as it unloads and see the trucks loaded with these great groups of happy, healthy and gay youngsters. They know they are out for a "whale of a time" and they certainly do get it.

The Lansing train was second to arrive and was followed at half-hour intervals by the two Detroit trains.

The toboggans were fast and thrilling as usual, and were the big attraction. The ski trails, however, are rapidly increasing in popularity and bid someday to be a close rival. It is surprising too how fast ski jumping is increasing. Alfred Orhm, a former all American champion, who is directing this branch of the winter sports activities here, has a faculty of getting beginners interested in skiing. He got a group of beginners interested in ski jumping and last Sunday conducted a spirited contest. Announcement of the winners appears elsewhere in this issue.

The ice rink was alive all day with darting and gliding humanity and everyone seemed to be having a great lot of fun. The music from the loud speaker kept the crowd swaying in rhythm.

Snow trains are scheduled again for next Sunday. Weather conditions at this time again look ideal. Near zero temperature, keeps the ice rink and toboggan slides in top-notch condition. A slight snow covered the area about the park, making it sparkle anew in grandeur.

The Woman About Town

(By Claire Morrill, Managing Editor Midland Daily News.)

If you were at Grayling Sunday and saw something live decorated in red, white, and blue and ending at the top in a bent peak, the whole looking much like something by Arthur Rackham and out of a hole of a tree, you probably saw us. We have plowed through plenty of snow in our day, but always before in mufti, and we don't mind saying we felt like a fish in a bird's nest. But Grayling will be waiting breathlessly for us to say that we think they've got something. We not only like the whole works now, we can see that in two-three years they're going to knock your eye right out. Through the foresightedness of local people, they've got three or four toboggan slides (steel and ice) ski jump, bobsled slide, skating rink, snowshoe trails, and what not. As a result, long before Flint and Detroit pour in their 2,400 people of three snow trains, accommodations are pretty well used up, and after those hordes get loose, you have to form in a long queue to wait for a chance to get on the toboggans. Grayling is smart not to develop in advance of the interest, but it's getting beyond them now, and it's lucky the state and federal government are coming into the picture. A half million bucks are going into that development in the next three years, and you'll see more slides, a much bigger rink, and best of all, three large stone and timber buildings, so that you can get warm, get a snack to eat, and even sit on a long porch and see the doings on the various slides. They're even going to have a place to hang up toboggans so they're dry and warm when you sit on them. Not wishing to add any comedy touches for the bystanders, we stayed off the ski jump, but as we watched the skaters, we could see ourself gliding easily about like a bird skimming the ice, putting to shame young and old (all except that roly-poly three-year-old to whom we took a special fancy). That toboggan business is swell, fast as the wind but smooth enough so you aren't scared. The strange gal that screamed in our ear all the way down that second time must have been yelling out of sheer youthful exuberance. The queen of the winter sports was a comely lass in her blue and white outfit, and sat on an ice throne backed by a figure of a sphinx, probably, and flanked by two ice pyramids, with six ice camels in the foreground. By the time the coronation was staged, our feet were so cold that we didn't envy her her refrigerated throne, and so left with no animosity. The hospitable Oscar Schumanns (Mr. S. publishes the Grayling newspaper) found rooms for us in advance, gave us a personal pass to free rides, arranged entry to an afternoon party, the Queen's dinner, and the evening ball. We couldn't make all of them, not having meant long in advance, but they meant a warm reception to a cold event, and were indicative of Grayling's fine hospitality, which will mean repeated visits. In two or three years that community will have the only natural winter sports park in the country. It's going to be just like Germany and the Tyrol, where you can have all their fun with huts for refreshments and conversation without, fortunately, their political mixups to dodge. Keep your eye on Grayling, if you're winter sports minded. And if you can't make that arduous climb back up the hill, cheer up. They're going to have escalators.

Delinquent Lands Revenue Producing

Lansing, Feb. 11—Northern lands which reverted to the state through tax delinquency November 3, 1939 become income-producing for local government units again in 1940, according to Fred P. Struhsaker, chief of the lands division of the department of conservation.

The huge clerical task of verifying and recording transfer of more than 2,000,000 acres in the 47 counties north of the Muskegon-Bay City line is still in progress here.

Failure to produce income, in taxes, for local government caused the delinquent acreage to become state land. Once in state ownership, the land not only gets the benefit of a constructive program for utilizing its conservation values for forestry, hunting and fishing and tourist appeal, but also pays immediately to the support of the schools and local governments 10 cents per acre per year. Single exception to this tax rule are state parks of less than 1,000 acres.

The 10 cent an acre levy in many instances is more than the tax was before the property became delinquent. In the calendar year 1938, $239,742.72 was paid by the state on such lands for schools and local governments. Offsetting this cost to the state is income from the lands in oil and gas leases and royalties, grazing permits, gravel and timber sales—income which is expected to grow as the state's young forests mature.

Of the reverted acreages, the state retains all non-agricultural lands that have demonstrated they will not pay their way in private ownership, and water frontage which is reserved for public use. Lands suitable for agriculture, or for hunting cabin sites, and city lots are offered for sale at public auction.

National forests pay no tax to local units, but they transmit to the state for distribution to local schools and governments 25 percent of their gross income, from timber sales and the like. Another 10 percent of their gross income is set aside for use on roads and highways within the forest boundaries. Now before Congress are bills that would provide for direct subsidy on the basis of appraised values to take the place of these contributions.

March 1 Deadline On 1939 License Plates

Daily inquiries reach the office of the Secretary of State, as to the possibility of an extension of time for the use of 1939 license plates. "Such an extension of time is impossible," Kelly stated, "the deadline is midnight, February 29th and this date cannot be changed by anyone in Michigan."

The legislature of 1937 set March 1st as the deadline and that law will be strictly enforced. You must either have half or full-year 1940 plates on your car by March 1st or quit using your car until such time as new plates are obtained.

Grayling Teams Won Three Games Friday

Friday evening an exciting series of basketball games was held in the local gym as will be seen in a long time.

The evening got under way with the Vanderbilt Junior High furnishing the opposition for the local Junior High team. This tilt ended with a 32-8 victory for Grayling and the stage was set for the first thriller as Vanderbilt battled the local reserves all over the floor and only lost out by one point as Grayling caged a "long Tom" with only 5 seconds to play, the score being 20-21.

The third game of the evening, with Charlevoix furnishing the opposition, proved to be another thriller as the lead saw-sawed back and forth and finally ended in a tie at the end of the regulation playing time. A 3-minute overtime was ordered and Grayling was fortunate enough to score enough points to eke out a 27-25 win.

Another Change In Schedule

Another change in the basketball schedule should be noted by basketball fans of this section. The Mancelona game scheduled for Friday, Feb. 23, has been changed to Thursday, Feb. 22nd.

KIWANIS TALK ABOUT LINCOLN AND EXCHANGE VALENTINES AT LUNCHEON

Coming on Valentine day, the Wednesday luncheon by the Kiwanis club, the occasion was observed by the exchange of damaging, incriminating and insinuating printed and illustrated missives between the members. If no lawsuits for personal liability or damage come out of them, the club may feel that its dignity has narrowly escaped blasting. Tough as it may have been, still it was a lot of fun.

This friendly revelry was offset by two very interesting short talks on the Great Emancipator. Supt. Gerald Poor of Grayling schools and Rev. H. W. Kuhlman told some very interesting things about the life and characteristics of Abraham Lincoln. Avoiding the generalities that are usual in such talks, both speakers told of some of the sidelights in Lincoln's life that were exceedingly interesting. Back of the sayings and acts of Lincoln were definite plans that are little understood, and with which many, at the time, were unable to agree. History has revealed that his far-sightedness proved that his ideas and plans were best for the nation. The more one studies this great character, the more one wants to know about him, and there seems no end to the great interest his life has been. Both speakers gave the members of the club some highly interesting thoughts.

Next Wednesday Senator Geo. McCallum of Lansing, will be the speaker. His subject will be taxation.

Harry Hauenstine Resort Owner Dies

Harry E. Hauenstine, owner of the gas station, store and several overnight cabins located on U.S. 27, eight miles south of Grayling, died at his home Sunday following a ten week's illness. During that time Mr. Hauenstine suffered from a cancer on the side of his face and had submitted to radium treatments at Ann Arbor in its early stages and later, with little relief. He died at his home Sunday morning at ten o'clock at the age of 57 years.

In the summer of 1937 Mr. Hauenstine, realizing the resort advantages of the north, came to Grayling and purchased the property on the highway of John LaMotte, comprising some forty acres. He began at once to improve it by remodeling the buildings that were on the place, and by building several new ones. Now it has become one of the most pleasant and comfortable places in Beaver Creek. He soon became acquainted in the neighborhood and at the time of his passing was justice of the peace of that township. He was of a very jovial and friendly nature and became widely known in Grayling and Roscommon, especially among the business people with whom he had many dealings.

Funeral services were held Tuesday forenoon at the Grayling Funeral Home at ten o'clock, Rev. H. W. Kuhlman of Michigan Memorial church officiating. Mrs. Clippert and Mrs. Harold Jarmin beautifully sang "In the Garden" and "The Old Rugged Cross," during the services. The remains were taken immediately following to the Farnham funeral home at Temperance, Mich., and Wednesday morning were removed to the Elks Lodge Temple in Toledo, to lie in state until two o'clock that afternoon when services were held in the lodge chapel. Interment was in Memorial Park, Toledo. The deceased had been a member of the Elks for a long number of years.

Harry Ernest Hauenstine was born in Newark, Ohio, May 10, 1882. His family later went to Beatrice, Nebraska to live, and he attended school at St. Edwards, Neb. In his early life he followed the barber trade for about 12 years. Oct. 21, 1911 he was united in marriage to Lena Derene at Toledo, Ohio, where they resided for several years, moving from there to Erie, Mich., where Mr. Hauenstine operated a gas station for 17 years. He served on the school board in 1928 at Erie and was deputy sheriff of Monroe county in 1931. He came to Grayling from Erie, Mich.

Surviving the deceased are his widow, one daughter Mrs. Roy King of Beaver Creek, and two brothers, Jesse Hauenstine of Erie, Mich., and William Hauenstine, whose address is unknown. The Avalanche joins in extending sympathy to the family in their sorrow. Mr. Hauenstine's untimely passing is a distinct loss to the community as he was a very enterprising citizen and much interested in the betterment of civic needs.

ELECTRIC SERVICE INTERRUPTED BY SLEET

Grounded electric power lines, due to heavy sleet on the wires, is reported to have been responsible for the interrupted electric service Monday and Tuesday forenoon. The trouble was located a few miles south of Grayling.

Linemen had to follow the lines many miles, travelling on snowshoes because of the deep snow, in order to find the trouble. Many homes and business places suffered from lack of electric service. The blocks south of Michigan avenue didn't have power enough to operate their motors, while across the street store owners were experiencing no trouble. In several places about the city too some were getting only faint rays of light from their lamps and others nearby had bright lights.

The trouble was located Tuesday forenoon and at about 11:00 a. m. everything was going on as usual.

This interruption caused a lot of inconvenience, the Avalanche office being one of those many who had no heat Monday night. Many depending on electric motors for operating their oil burners and stokers had to find other means for keeping warm during Monday night.

Golden Glovers In Grand Rapids Today

GRAYLING REPRESENTED BY SEVEN BOXERS

Jack Redhead, Tony Trudeau, and Manager Willard Harwood returned home from the Bay City Golden Gloves tournament Friday and are proud to announce that out of 13 boys representing the Grayling team, seven were winners in their division and are in Grand Rapids today (Thursday) and tomorrow, February 15 and 16 for the finals. This is an excellent average, with more champions per team than several of the other cities combined. As Jack said, "Bay City knew that Grayling was there."

The winners were: Nathaniel Crosby, lightweight; Willard Tipton, light-heavy; Robert Boyd, featherweight; and Lucien Taliaferro, middleweight; all of Camp Houghton Lake; and Oliver Duplessis, Charlevoix; Harold Chase, West Branch.

Taliaferro, Boyd and Tipton won by two knockouts each, and Crosby by three knockouts. A. C. Rogers, Camp Houghton Lake, lost by a decision that surprised the crowd, but was reinstated and will box in Grand Rapids. Much credit goes to Johnny Eaton of Camp Houghton Lake for the fine record that the boys from there have made. Eaton, once a professional boxer, trains the boys at the camp, keeping them in good form at all times. Boxing is one of the main sports in this camp and much of their leisure time is given to it.

Duplessis went through the Boyne City and Grayling tournaments in fine form and it was expected that he would make a good record in Bay City.

Harold Chase fought in the West Branch tourney and from all reports he went through there in good form and showed plenty of boxing ability in the Bay City tournament.

Willard Harwood, as manager of the Grayling team, accompanied the boys to Grand Rapids today (Thursday) for the finals. We trust that the boys will make as good a showing as they did in Bay City.

Mechanical Failures Closes Local School

Due to an unfortunate set of circumstances over which the school had no control it has been necessary to dismiss school twice recently.

On Feb. 8th, the sewage system became clogged and, not being able to use the water system, it was necessary to dismiss until the condition was remedied. The trouble was located the same day and school was in progress Friday as usual.

Then again Tuesday, due to lack of electric power it was impossible to run the stoker and without heat it was necessary to dismiss school.

BEGINNERS MAKE GOOD RECORDS IN SKI JUMPING

Teaching a number of neophytes the art of ski jumping in a few hours to enable them to take part in a jumping contest is quite a feat. Last Sunday instructor Alfred Orhm induced a number of youngsters to try jumping. Naturally they were afraid to make a start. Finally one of the group made the venture and soon all were jumping and decided it was great fun.

Of course they didn't break any distance records, but, who knows but that some day we may be reading about some of those boys who got their start here in Grayling last Sunday.

Here are the records of last Sunday:

Name	Home	Distance
Don Roach, Detroit	103
Leo King, Chicago	107 1/2
Ed Newman, Cleveland	112 1/2
Harold Newman, Cleveland	110 1/2
Burrows, Flint	79
Walter Wickman,
E. Lansing	100
Bob Anderson,
E. Lansing	107

Mr. Orhm says these boys had never tried jumping before and now they all are so enthused that some of them are planning to return several times before the season closes.

It may be of interest to know that Mr. Orhm's record jump is 228 feet, which won for him the all-American championship in 1928.

Hanson Cafe Splits Doubleheader

Last Saturday night the few fans attending the games saw a lot of real excitement. Two games were on the bill and both games were thrillers.

Boyne City pushed the Cafe boys to the limit in the first fracas but the local lads proved to be a little too much and came out on the long end of the 32-29 count, to win their second league game.

Boyne led throughout the first three quarters due mostly to the shooting of Green, Boyne's big forward. Marshall then moved back to defensive guard and Ken Gottho took the center position to give height under the basket and Green was stopped cold thereafter.

The second game started in a way that was enough to take the heart out of anyone. But not Frank Bennett's boys. Alma led by the score of 15-0 at the end of the first quarter. Beginning the second half with the score 25-8 against them Grayling put on a passing and shooting exhibition that had the Alma team flatfooted. Fighting with all they could give, the boys finally pulled up to within one point when the final whistle blew. The score ended Alma 40, Grayling 39.

Eddie Chalker home from W.S.T.C., for the weekend and member of the Hanson Cafe team for the past few years topped all scorers for the evening with a total of 23 points.

This Saturday night the Charlevoix Merchants will furnish the opposition for Hanson Cafe in the local gym. Charlevoix has several stars from Coach "Stub" Kipke's championship teams of the past which designate a good fast game for the evening.

First game Saturday night begins at 7:30 o'clock.

Between 80 and 100 million acres of marsh land have been drained in the U. S., meaning millions of acres of water have been taken from plants, animals, birds and man.

May Refuse
Hunting Licenses

Refusal of hunting licenses to persons who do not report their success or lack of it, as required by law, may be the penalty imposed in future for such failure.

Conservation officials, perturbed by the slowness with which returns due February 15 are trickling into department offices in Lansing, are considering such penalty as an effective means of securing hunter cooperation.

The department, as the law now stands, has authority to bring charges against hunters who do not return the report cards attached to licenses. Fine and imprisonment are penalties now provided by law.

Such actions against offending hunters, however, can be less effective than refusal of licenses, the department holds.

JIMMY STEVENSON TO CROWN ANOTHER
SNOW QUEEN

WJR's Jimmy Stevenson, outstanding news and sports announcer, will travel to East Tawas Saturday, February 17 to crown another Snow Queen at the Winter Festival. He will broadcast his regular six o'clock news from that town, having made arrangements to have all International News Service reports relayed to him at the northern resort.

With Stevenson will be Birdie Tebbetts, Charley Gehring and Barney McCoskey, famous Tiger players, and a large group of winter sports fans. At a recent appearance in Grayling Jimmy drew a record crowd to watch his broadcast.

Conrad Howse, Pioneer
Citizen, Passed Away

Conrad Howse, a resident of Maple Forest for 63 years, passed away at his home in that township at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the ripe age of 79 years.

Mr. Howse died following a ten days illness of stomach trouble. Mr. Howse was born in Oxford, Mich., October 23, 1860 and when he was 17 years old, with his parents the late Mr. and Mrs. Barney Howse, came to Crawford county and located in Maple Forest. In 1883 he was united in marriage to Eunice Lily Bigham.

To the union six children were born, four of whom survive. One daughter Mrs. Mable Lovely and a son Marvin, passing away several years ago, and Mrs. Howse died October 1, 1923.

Although Mr. Howse followed farming, in the early days he lumbered, running camps in Johannesburg and Moorestown.

The remains were at the Sorenson Funeral Home until Wednesday when funeral services were held at the M. P. church in Frederic, Rev. H. W. Kuhlman of Michelson Memorial church, Grayling, officiating. Two favorite hymns of the family, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Rock of Ages" were beautifully sung by Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Mrs. Harold Jarmin. Interment was in the cemetery at Maple Forest, and the following neighbors served as pallbearers: Jay Skinner, William Woodburn, J. W. Smith, Archie Lozon, Rufus Edmonds and Bert Plagens.

Those surviving the deceased are two sons and two daughters: Arthur and Archie Howse, and Mrs. Ernest Winston of Maple Forest and Mrs. Stanley Lazarowicz, Grayling. Also one sister, Mrs. Sarah Jane Malco of Grand Rapids and 15 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Those from out of town in attendance at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Claud Tompkins and Mrs. Flossie Colby of Grand Rapids.

PANTY-WAIST HILL
POPULAR WITH SKIERS

"Back home," is what some of the local skiers say when they go to "Division" Hill at the military reservation to do their skiing. It was here that Grayling winter sports was born. Nearly a score of years ago Grayling people would go there to enjoy ski sliding down the broad and steep hillside.

This place is becoming popular again with skiers, and is being called by many "Panty-Waist" hill. Just where it got this name we do not know, however Alfred Orhm, professional ski instructor says it is quite appropriate for it is safe for timid beginners and still thrilling enough to attract more daring ski riders.

Grayling Winter
Park Sets Record

Lansing, Feb. 15.—Picnics at state parks are the order of the day when mild weather makes other than the usual winter sports possible. On a recent warm weekend, among the 6,200 at Bloomer state park No. 2 at Rochester were some who added weiner roasts to the usual hiking, skiing and sliding, and boy scouts cooked their dinners in the open.

Three snow trains that took 2,000 to Grayling to swell the weekend attendance to 8,600, set the record to date. At Ludington state park, serving of coffee in trail-side shelters continues a popular and distinctive attraction for winter sports fans.

The Weather

The groundhog didn't fool when he saw his shadow and predicted 6 more weeks of winter. Friday morning the Grayling Fish Hatchery thermometer registered 12 below, the coldest morning of last and this week. Sunday morning the mercury stopped at 2 above at 6 o'clock, rising to 34 above in the afternoon. This morning (Thursday) at 6 o'clock the thermometer registered 7 below. The north may be getting the cold weather, but the South seems to be getting the worst storms. The sun has been shining nearly every day for the past week, melting the ice on the streets.

Womans Club

It was unfortunate that the program to have been given Monday evening by the new club members at Michelson Memorial church had to be postponed on account of the lack of heat in the church. However the program will be given next Monday evening.

The box social given by the club, down at the Hartwick Pines CCC camp, for the benefit of the milk fund Tuesday evening was a success considering the number of people on the sick list.

Capt. and Mrs. Walter Maxwell were the hosts and very generously donated the camp building and music for the party. The building was all dressed up in red hearts and valentine decorations for the occasion.

Judge Charles Moore acted as auctioneer for the very attractive lunch boxes, and the highest bidder walked off to lunch with the girl who could "make a cherry pie with a twinkle in her eye" or the best sandwiches and cake. The social netted the club $26.30 which was a very good sum to add to the milk fund. The club wish to thank Capt. and Mrs. Maxwell for making the social possible.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our neighbors and friends for their beautiful expressions of sympathy at the passing of our father.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howse, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Howse, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lazarowicz.

Old Viking Funeral Ship
Found on English Coast

At Sutton Hoe on a gentle hillside overlooking the Orwell river near Ipswich, on the east coast of England, a farmer thrusts a spade into the green turf. He thrusts again and strikes something hard. He uncovers what looks like the ribs of an old ship.

Soon excavators arrive from museums and go delicately to work, using only their fingers for tools. After many months they produce a perfect and priceless treasure of antiquity that takes their breath away. writes M. H. Halton in the Toronto Daily Star. They make one of the most remarkable archeological discoveries the country has ever known. They find the funeral ship of an Anglo-Saxon king who died 1,322 years ago.

Other excavators at other times have discovered fragments of buried towns and buried civilizations and have had to piece their stories together from one stone here and another there. But at Sutton Hoe they have found everything absolutely complete, exactly as it was left on that day of mourning 14 centuries ago.

When ancient Norse kings died they were set afloat in great Viking caravels and when the wind was favorable the funeral ship was set afloat and sent flaring out to sea.

With the repurchase by the Turkish government of the line between Istanbul and the Bulgarian frontier there is left only one private railway operating in Turkey.

ALWAYS SOMEBODY BETTER

The story is told about a Florida real estate operator who died in the midst of the Florida boom and went to heaven. When he arrived, he learned that the prices of Florida land were going up still higher, and he began to tell St. Peter and a group of the angels the millions he could have made if he only could have lived and held on a short time longer. In the midst of his boasting, he noticed that one of the angels arose in a bored way and flew away.

"That's very discourteous," said the Florida man to St. Peter. "Who was that fellow who went away?"

"That," said St. Peter, "was the Indian who sold Manhattan island for $24."

SWORD FISH, OF COURSE

Wife—You know we have General Warfield to dinner tonight—he's an extreme militarist. What fish should I serve?

Tom—Isn't this a wonderful dance floor?

Rose—Well, if you think so, why don't you dance on it instead of on my feet?

Who Cares?

Teacher—Now, Willie, if I subtract 20 from 45, what's the difference?

Willie—Yes, teacher, what's the difference, if you do?

And He's Right

Son—What is the greatest water power, Pa?

Dad—Woman's tears.

Raising Thoroughbreds

Costly, Horseman Finds

The word thoroughbred is often, even in well informed circles, erroneously used in referring to a full-blooded breed of horses, when the correct descriptive word is purebred. Thoroughbred, rightly used, means a definite breed of horse which is commonly known as the racehorse. The history of the thoroughbred is well known. The breed descends from the Arab, the product of 200 years of breeding for speed and size. The breeding still goes on.

Not generally known is the fact that it costs much more to raise an offspring from a large, fast horse than from a small, inferior one, writes Capt. Maxwell M. Corpening in the Chicago Tribune. Thoroughbreds have a general range in size of from 14.2 to 17.2 hands (the hand being four inches) and 900 to 1,300 pounds in weight. Color varies greatly.

The chief uses to which a thoroughbred is put are in the field of sports—racing, polo, and hunting. Usually it is much higher strung than a common horse and therefore more easily spoiled.

Because of the long struggle to improve the Arab for speed, faults in conformation are frequently found in thoroughbreds. The commonest of these are small bones and not enough heart girth. Like their Arab ancestors, thoroughbreds exert little effort in motion, giving a comfortable ride. They have great strength, and their greatest asset—endurance—has given rise to the expression "A clean thoroughbred never quits."

Maternity Death Rate
Could Be Cut in Half

The lives of 6,000 mothers could be saved every year by prompt and proper medical care, Dr. Phillip R. Williams, of Philadelphia, said recently at the first American Congress of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

The maternal death rate in the United States is lower than ever before in history, but it is still "disgracefully high" in view of the present knowledge of medical men, Dr. Williams said.

The death rate of mothers declined from 57 out of every 10,000 during 1936 to 49 out of every 10,000 in 1937. Dr. Williams pointed out, however, that this might be cut in half if physicians made use of all available knowledge and if prospective mothers asked for medical attention early.

In addition, the lives of about half of the babies who die in childbirth or soon after might be saved by application of medical methods which are not now generally applied. During 1937, the last year for which statistics are available, 119,931 babies died.

First Household Lights

The first electric light for household use was probably used by Prof. Moses Gerrish Farmer at 11 Pearl street, Salem, Mass. In 1859 he arranged a series of lamps in his parlor, the current for which was supplied by a wet cell battery. Electricity used successfully to light a residence was generated by an independent plant installed in the home of J. Hood Wright at Fort Washington, N. Y., before December of 1881.

My Symphony

To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury; and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable; and wealthy, not rich; to study hard; think quietly, talk frankly; to listen to stars and birds, to babes and sages, with open heart; to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely, await occasion, hurry never; in a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious, grow up through the common. This is to be my symphony.—William Henry Channing.

Indian Milkshake

The milkshake had its origin with the American Indian. Dr. Forrest E. Clements, anthropologist professor at the University of Oklahoma who has made a study of Indian culture, has disclosed. The Indian not only contributed chocolate to the white man, but he made a milk chocolate drink flavored with vanilla, a plant product native to Mexico. Dr. Clements said. "We owe many vitamins in our diet to the Indian," said the professor.

Whites Work for Indians

The island of Annette, of which Metlakatla is the principal town is believed to be the only territory in the United States where white men work for Indians. The island is occupied by Indians with the exception of 11 white persons employed by them. The latter include a policeman, a doctor, a half dozen teachers, a cannery superintendent and two ministers.

Stopped on Way West

Grover Cleveland, who became President, when fresh from college could not find work and, like most young men of those days, determined to go west to seek his fortune. On his way there he stopped in Buffalo to visit an uncle, was persuaded to remain there, given a place in a lawyer's office as an office boy. The West thus losing a prospective settler.

Happy Faces Tell the Story

To convalescent homes such as this go the fortunate crippled children whose bodies have been straightened by today's medical science. When the surgeon has done his work much remains for other hands. The tots in the picture above are convalescing in a home where their every need is anticipated and supplied. They will doubtless become responsible normal members of society rather than an expensive and pitiful burden.

Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, has accepted the President's invitation to join in the peace efforts of the world's religious leaders.

Use two strands of dental floss instead of one when restringing beads. Beads are not so likely to cut through two strands.

Sprinkle salt on ink that has been spilled on a rug. As fast as ink absorbs it sprinkle on more salt and no trace of ink spot will remain.

To prevent diced fruits dropping to the bottom of a gelatin mold, chill fruits and add when gelatin mixture has partly congealed. (Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

OFFICE WORKERS DO NOT DIE EARLIER THAN LABORERS

The common belief that office workers, because of their sedentary life, do not live as long as men who work hard all day in factories has been debunked by life insurance companies, who have found that the average industrial worker dies eight years sooner than his office, stoop-shouldered brothers. This is due, in part, to the accidents which befall industrial workers, especially in some lines of work, and in part to the unhealthy conditions under which many of them work. Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

Thursday, February 15, 1917

Peter Lovely, pioneer resident of Grayling for the past thirty years, passed away at his home Sunday. The cause of death was paralysis. He suffered the first stroke about three years ago, which had left him an invalid ever since. During his illness his daughter, Miss Minnie Lovely, was ever at his side. Mr. Lovely was 86 years of age and was born in Canada. He was the father of 15 children, 10 of whom are living. Funeral services were held from St. Mary's church Wednesday morning, Rev. Fr. Riess officiating.

Miss Bessie Mowat of Bay City is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Welsh this week.

W. S. Muchler has resigned his position at the du Pont plant and left for his home in Kalkaska.

Miss Vivian LaClair returned Monday to her home in Cheboygan, after a week's visit a guest of Miss Mary Cassidy. Master Merton Burrows accompanied her to visit his grandparents, who reside there.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Travis Friday, February 9th.

Mrs. Marius Hanson was called to Detroit Saturday by the serious illness of a brother, Fred Parsons. However, he passed away Sunday evening.

Mrs. J. P. Davidson entertained with a party in honor of her son, Gordon, Wednesday evening. A dainty three-course supper was served to about 20 young folks.

Albert Grouleff of Muncie, Ind., was guest of honor at a noon dinner, Sunday, at Shoppenagons Inn, given by his former employer, Rasmus Hanson. There were 12 gentlemen present. Mr. Grouleff was at one time a valued and faithful employee of the Salling, Hanson Co.

This month has caught many families without coal. The thermometer registering anywhere from zero to 37 below, the coal situation looks serious. The coal dealers have been without coal for several days.

The residence near the corner of Vine and Maple streets, occupied by the Cecil Curdano, burned to the ground Tuesday morning. The family had a narrow escape to get out of the building. The fire was a complete loss as all the contents were burned. The building and furniture was owned by Mrs. E. A. Eckenfels.

Joseph King was taken to Mercy hospital Saturday, suffering from pneumonia.

Undertaker George Sorenson is laid up at his home with a badly frozen foot he received on the Sunday of the funeral of Mrs. Harrington, it being a very severe day.

Much presence of mind was shown on the part of Mrs. C. E. Bingham, when she discovered their home on fire Tuesday afternoon. Sparks from a chimney fell into an unused fireplace, in which a floor had been built, and when seen by Mrs. Bingham, the one wall of the living room was afire. Without calling for help Mrs. Bingham carried pails of water and extinguished the fire.

Miss Bernadette Tetu gave a pretty party at her home Wednesday evening in honor of the approaching marriage of her sister, Fedora. A merry time was had at cards by the 23 young ladies present.

The past week has been the coldest of the winter. Marius Insley, who manages the weather in Grayling for the government, says that the coldest day of the winter thus far was Sunday night Feb. 11, when the mercury reached 33 below zero. January 29th was the warmest day, the mercury registering 42 above zero.

School Notes (23 Years Ago)

Earl Davis is a new pupil in the Junior High school.

Miss Elsie Sparkes has discontinued work in our Commercial department and is now assistant book-keeper in the Bank of Grayling.

"The Elopement of Ellen" is the title of the High school play that is to be given next week. Miss Wells, our High school principal, is drilling the young people. Following are those who will take part in the play: Roy Case, Mary Cassidy, Benton Jorgenson, Carleton Meilstrup, Lucille Hanson, Fern Armstrong, and Emerson Bates.

Frederic News (23 Years Ago)

Mr. and Mrs. James have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their fourteen months old child, from whooping cough. Later a second child passed away and the funeral for both were held the same day, and the little bodies were laid to rest in the same grave.

Mrs. J. Palmer, a resident of Frederic since 1879, passed away Saturday. The funeral was held Wednesday. She leaves to mourn her passing, besides her husband, a daughter, Miss Dollie Palmer, and three sons, Cornelius, William and George.

Another landmark in Maple Forest is gone. The Ed. Sherman home burned to the ground Sunday night.

Frederic School Notes (23 Years Ago)

Ethel Stevens has entered the fourth grade here.

The girl's basketball team gave a supper last week, which was a great success. The Misses Reynolds, Brown, McDermaid and Gendron had charge of the supper.

The Manistee River

By MISS MAE DUST
Wellston, Mich.

A dense forest stood for ages along the Manistee River. The Indian name of Manistee means "spirit of the woods." The wind blowing through the branches reduced a murmur they thought was a spirit. It is 300 miles long and is fed by brooks and springs. Bear Creek empties into it from the north and Pine Creek and Pine River on the south. Pine River became nationally known from the Collins-Gerhardt case fought to the state supreme court over the fishing rights through private owned land, decided in favor of Gerhardt and its being public fishing waters. Manistee River empties into Lake Michigan and then pursues a channel to Lake Michigan. On either side of the channel is the city of Manistee, the largest salt-producing city in the world. The Little Manistee River empties into Lake Michigan so we have the little and big lake and the big and little river. The county is also named Manistee as is the national forest but alas, there are few stately pines, so we do not hear the spirit any more.

The Chippewas inhabited the river valley when the first white men came. Father Marquette was the first and then probably Jesuit missionaries and fur traders ventured in. In 1832 men from Massachusetts came up the river and built a block house and began work on a dam but the Indians chased them away. It is where the Chas. W. Tippy dam is today and conservation buildings are on the site of the "old house." A native of the region lived in this "old house" when a boy. He remembers that they caught a sturgeon on a pike pole from a canoe. They laid the fish inside the door and it flopped the length of the room. Not so many years ago he caught one with a stick and his hands that measured six feet.

The Chippewas moved to the upper peninsula and their reservation was thrown open to the whites and the Ottawas who lived along Lake Michigan shores moved into the valley and many are still here. They live in wigwam and costume at the forest festival each Fourth on the lake at Manistee. There is a monument where a Chippewa trail crossed near Parkdale.

The Manistee River was considered the best logging river in the world because of its high banks for railways. Logs were driven down to Manistee where the saw mills were. A surveyor on the river said lumbermen threw logs down as if trying to kill them. Logs are still being lifted from the river bottom and sawed into lumber having the old branding marks that were registered at the county seat.

There was a deer lick near the river where salt came to the surface and deer were there continually. One family had 19 hanging at one time. They became scarce after the timber was cut and had no cover. Season was closed for ten years and they became too numerous and were destructive.

There were a million wild pigeons. During the day they frequented salt pools and went to roost at night. There were several feet deep on the ground, the sky was black with them and they made a terrific noise, migrated, and one year only a few came back. It was reported that a storm had taken them down into Lake Michigan.

Grayling were native, weighed from 6 to 12 ounces and averaged 10 inches in length. The trout being gamer, drove them out.

The river was black with fish and pitchforks were used to spear them. Later the conservation department sold them by the pound and wagon loads were taken, salted and smoked for winter use. Not many years ago a 35-pound northern pike was taken and rainbows tipped the scales at 25 pounds.

A dam was built on the Pine River, one on the big river and another at the junction and this body of water in between is called the "backwaters," is very wide and looks like a lake, a very unusual body of water. Lake fish have been planted and when the rainbow come up to spawn in the spring they are lifted over the dams. It is open for fish all the year. The boat livers have become famous for the prize winners caught. Fishermen camp and wait all night for the water to be shut off at these dams in May. Rainbow stay below the dams and some climb the chute and get over themselves. Smoked rainbow is a wonderful meat. The Indians dried their meat.

Bear have been numerous. One came to Pine Lake at sunset each day to drink. That fall it was pulled into camp and weighed 900 pounds. Campers complained of bears eating their foods. Frank Snyder went hunting for bear, taking his canoe up the river and brought back one each day for four successive days. Hopper swamp and the Udell hills are wild and they roam unmolested except during open season.

Bill Loomis of Newaygo got his deer with a bow and arrow last year. He is the champion archer of western Michigan.

The Power Co. has a tourist park in a beautiful hardwood virgin forest on the river at Red Bridge and have reforested their lands bordering the river with pine and first discovered that pine can be successfully grown on this sand. The national forest is all being planted to pine and white pine, the tree that made Michigan famous has the best survival up to date. A state highway crosses it east and west and a bridge spans the river where the first pole bridge was built and has the most beautiful state roadside park in the state.

During the old days there was no bridge to cross the river, one had to use a canoe. The railroad spanned it called High Bridge, people walked on it and even cattle were led across. One could cross near Mesick where the state stage coach road crossed that went from Grand Rapids to Traverse City. The coach had room for a dozen people and three teams drew it and made the trip twice a week.

Eagles nested along the river and one nest is still inhabited.

Wellston, a village in the center of these many streams and lakes, is built around a lake and known as the "home of good fishing."

CAN OUR PLANES PROTECT AMERICA?

What would happen if our air strength were to be tested today? Is it adequate for national defense? What will it be like in the near future? Frazier Hunt, noted war correspondent and author, discusses this phase of our military strength in an interesting article. Watch for it in This Week, the magazine with Sunday's Detroit News.

TURN ABOUT

The Empress Catherine of Russia once sent the celebrated Voltaire a small ivory box, made with her own hands; whereupon Voltaire got his niece to instruct him in knitting stockings, and set to work to knit the empress a pair. These he sent with this gallant note:

"That as you have presented me with a piece of man's workmanship made by a woman, I thought it my duty to send you in return a piece of woman's work from the hand of a man."

But here's a smile for the ladies—the stockings were only half finished!

WOULD IMPROVE HER LOOKS

"I'm going to wear glasses—don't you think they'll improve my looks?"

"Oh, I'm sure they will, dear—you'll be able to look so much farther, you know."

Real Anecdote

"What is an anecdote, Johnny?" asked the teacher.

"A short, funny tale," answered the little fellow.

"Quite right," said the teacher; "and now, Johnny, you may write on the blackboard a sentence containing the word."

Johnny hesitated a minute, and then wrote: "A rabbit has four legs and one anecdote."

You Would Too

Physical Culture Instructor (to new pupil)—Your chest expansion is extraordinary.

Pupil—I've just had a salary increase, and the girl I love has accepted me at last.

Head of the Class

Professor—Now class, how many make a dozen?

Class—Twelve.

Professor—How many make a trillion?

Class—Very few these days.

Better Find Out

Willie—Mamma, am I descended from the monkey tribe?

Mother—I'm not sure, Willie; I never met any of your father's folks.

No Difference

She—What heavenly swing! Let's dance.

He—That wasn't swing. The waiter just dropped our dinner.

Reasonable Query

Heyton—Is a chicken big enough to eat when it's two weeks old?

Vanda—Certainly not.

Heyton—Then how does it live?

LATEST STYLES

She—Have you been following the new styles?

He—Sure. I followed one 10 blocks only today.

Too Diplomatic

He (being diplomatic)—I shall miss you terribly when you're away; in fact, I don't quite know what I shall do, but—

She (being noble)—Oh! Very well. I won't go.

Not Him

"You ain't one of them fellows who drop their tools and scoot as soon as knock-off blows, are you?"

"Not me. Why, I often have to wait five minutes after I put my tools away before the whistle goes."

How Very True

Urma—I don't think that women have always been vain. You know women were made before mirrors.

George—Yes, and they've been before them most of the time since.

Always Ready to Help

"This is the third fly I've fished out of my soup," said the diner, testily.

"Would you care for a sieve, sir?" asked the waiter.—Stray Stories.

Take no Chances

Sally—I wouldn't marry the best man on earth.

Hopmore—Then take me and you won't be running any risk.

No Need Repeating

Barber (solicitously)—Shall I go over it again?

Victim—No; I heard it all the first time.

FOR STREET WEAR

Padded jackets, neatly quilted, are smart for street wear this year. The picture shows a checked wool-black, beige and fireman's red-quilted in beige. The wool jersey blouse is red, the gored skirt is black.

OUTSTANDING WOMAN

Mrs. Elias Compton of Wooster, Ohio, was named by Duward Howes, editor of American Women, as an outstanding woman of 1939. She is the mother of three famous men, Arthur H. Compton, Nobel prize winner for physics; Karl T. Compton, college president, and Wilson M. Compton, lawyer and economist.

School for Teachers

The first school for the preparation of teachers was opened at Lexington, Vt., in 1823 by Rev. Samuel Reed Hall, who had been a teacher as well as preacher, and who accepted the pastorate of the Congregational church at Lexington on condition that he might conduct a seminary for teachers. Massachusetts was the first state to establish normal schools, the first being opened at Lexington in 1839.

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association

By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—The extent to which the present state administration is behind the Vandenberg-for-President campaign is shown by the recent activity of Governor Dickinson's private secretary, Leslie Butler.

Butler, like Miller Dunckel, the state treasurer, was active in the Michigan Young Republicans' club. Now at the bidding of Howard Lawrence of Grand Rapids, who is Vandenberg's Michigan chairman, he is dividing his time between the governor's offices and Vandenberg promotion, the latter taking him away frequently on out-of-state trips.

Should the Republican presidential nomination go to Vandenberg, then Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly of Detroit may get the senator's blessing as a candidate for the United States senate. Kelly, a Roman Catholic and World War veteran, has been building up a state-wide following that would be an asset, so the story goes, to the Vandenberg nomination.

Whether Dickinson will be a candidate for re-election no one definitely knows. The impression has been growing at the state capitol, however, that the 81-year-old executive is already unofficially campaigning for the office. The number of speeches which he has made during the past 12 months would do justice to a man half his age.

Third Term Sentiment

On the Democratic side the elevation of Attorney General Frank Murphy to the United States Supreme court has clarified the party atmosphere considerably.

Murray D. VanWagoner, commissioner of highways, has found himself in the position of being pushed by party demand into the nomination for the governorship. As the only Democratic elected official at Lansing, he is recognized as the party's top boss. Charles Porritt, chairman of the state central committee, is known to be a "Van Wagoner man."

Since Murphy and Van Wagoner were frequently at odds during Murphy's administration as governor, the former's appointment to the supreme court bench nicely eliminated the possibility of future conflict.

A Dickinson vs. Van Wagoner campaign would evoke interesting fireworks.

Edmund C. Shields, national committeeman from Michigan, recently confided that a fairly systematic survey has shown more than 90 per cent of Democratic leaders throughout the state favor a third term for President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Counter to the inconsistency of state committeemen such as Mr. Shields was a recent declaration by Raymond Clapper, Washington correspondent, and the America Speaks polls to the effect that elements of a third term sentiment are not now in evidence throughout the nation.

Vote on Amendment?

Indicative of the metropolitan vs. rural division in Michigan is a new movement to circulate petitions to place a constitutional amendment on the ballot next November 5.

This amendment would reduce the membership of the House at Lansing from 100 to 64, automatically requiring a reapportionment of House seats. It just happens that there has been no reapportionment of legislative seats since 1925, although the constitution itself says that such shall be done every ten years. In apparent fear of metropolitan domination of upstate affairs, the legislature has consistently declined to do anything about it, and that goes for the Democrats as well as the Republicans.

Wary of vote complications either in the cities or rural areas, most state officials have merely parried attempts to elicit their views. Attorney General Thomas Read said the present 100-member house was good enough; the legislature should merely abide by the reapportionment mandate. Governor Dickinson, Treasurer Miller Dunckel, Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly and Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, all discreetly withheld their judgment. Only Vernon J. Brown, auditor general, conceded that there was merit to the reapportionment demand and that some adjustments should be made.

Medical Insurance

A Michigan physician-author and the Michigan State Medical Society are responsible, so the inside story goes, for President Roosevelt's recent decision to shelve the expensive Wagner health act for a national subsidy of individual health service.

The new medical insurance plan, whereby workers with less than $2,500 annual incomes may get full family medical care on a monthly insurance fee basis, is designed by the state medical fraternity to solve the problem of adequate medical service for the low income group.

Back of that, of course, is the threat of socialized medicine, which now exists in many European countries including England and Germany.

At one time the Wagner health program, patterned after the Social Security set-ups for old age pensions and unemployment compensation, had the inside track at the White House. Michigan and California then adopted in 1939 medical insurance programs. A similar plan is being considered in 13 other states. These arguments were used effectively by Paul De Kruif, Michigan author, in a personal conference recently with President Roosevelt.

Hence the outcome of the Michigan plan is being watched nationally. If the physicians' own solution fails to provide the answer, then state socialization is on its way. At least, medical leaders here privately take this view.

Pressure for Revenue

When governments spend more than they collect in revenue and when pressure for more revenue continues, then watch out for new taxes.

The recent publicity about deficiency of hospital beds, lack of old age pension funds, need for better crippled children care and so on is an illustration how popular pressure can be created to grant state aid for deserving causes.

And so it goes. In any event it is the consumer who ultimately foots the bill. No one can reasonably dispute that.

Scottish Tartans

The term tartan was known and the material was woven of one or two colors for the poor and more varied for the rich as early as the middle of the fifteenth century. In the accounts of John, bishop of Glasgow, treasurer to King James III in 1471, there occurs the following mention of the material: "Ane elce and ane halve of blue Tartane to lync his gowne of cloth of gold." In 1538 accounts were incurred for a Highland dress for King James V on the occasion of a hunting expedition in which there are charges for "Heiland tartane."

EASIEST TIME TO CURE DRAFTS IS WHEN YOU BUILD!

WATCH THESE THREE PLACES IF YOU WOULD STOP THEM

There is just no excuse for drafts in your new home, because drafts are definitely curable if you will watch just three places—and all three places are around your windows.

First and foremost offender in the making of drafts in your new home is the window frame. Now you've never bought window frames so you don't know anything about them and that is one reason why so many home builders have drafty windows, because they were careless about the window frame that went into their homes. Now, we aren't going to go into detail about window frames. We just want you to remember that the most important thing about a window frame is how it joins the wall. If it makes a permanent leak-proof weather-tight joint with the wall, fine and dandy. If it doesn't, you'll have drafts, no end of drafts. How can you make sure about a weathertight joint? Just specify that the window frames used in your new home have wide blind-stap construction. This special construction should be familiar to your contractor.

Proper Fitting Necessary

Next in importance to window frame is the window sash (the part of the window that moves within the frame). Many home builders buy window frames in one place and sash in another with the result that the sash and frame never fit properly in spite of trimming and cutting on the job. And sash that don't fit properly cause drafts, and more drafts. The modern trend is towards what is known as complete window units that are delivered with frame and sash precision fitted to each other at the factory. Many of these window units are even complete with weatherstrip. In any event be sure that the window sash are fitted properly to the window frame and you'll eliminate another big source of drafts.

Glass Cools Air

Now here is the third cause of drafts. It's warm air being quickly cooled against a single pane of glass. The cold air then drops to the floor. This flow of air causes drafts. What's the cure? A double pane of glass. Some windows are made so that this double pane of glass fits on the inside of the window, while the most common is the ordinary storm window which are hung on the outside. Whether your double glass is inside or outside, the result is the same. The glass that is within the heated room is kept warmer by the dead air space between the double panes. Result: Warm air is not cooled so fast; no cool air—no drafts.

Poor wall joint between window frame and wall causes drafts (see arrows).

Poor fitting window sash allow cold air to leak in causing drafts (see arrows).

A single pane of glass cools warm air quickly. Cool air drops to floor causing drafts.

STUPID PEOPLE DO NOT CRY AT THE MOVIES MORE THAN INTELLIGENT PEOPLE

Psychologists say that we are all wrong in supposing we are more intelligent than our weeping brothers when we feel no urge to shed tears during emotional movies or dramas. Except in cases of "chronic weepers," intelligent people are more likely to feel like having a good cry than are dull people, for they want to cry because their keen imagination makes the scene real. Imagination is one of the big aspects of intelligence, and it enables people to place themselves in the situations acted out by the performers. So, go ahead and enjoy yourself when you want to cry. You have at least a little imagination in you.

HENRY FORD and his brother William Ford were photographed together as they chatted during an intermission in a meeting of Ford tractor dealers at Dearborn Inn. William Ford (left) is distributor for the new tractor in Michigan, northern Ohio and northern Indiana. With the Fords are C. E. Sorensen of the Ford Motor Company and E. C. Sherman of the Ferguson-Sherman Manufacturing Corporation, national distributors for the new tractor. During the morning Henry Ford dropped in and stayed for three hours.

Predicament!

Men came to the rescue of the buck deer, above, which had fallen into an old cellar. Apparently without food for several days, the animal was discovered by Roy Curtis of Round Lake, Ala., an expert, who walked 10 miles in a blinding snowstorm to Alabama to catch and of conservation officers. A ramp was built of old planks, and the buck bounded up it to safety in the open air. Harry Plotts, F. A. Clark and Harold T. Ward of Grayling and W. Neal Hale, Plainview fire warden, who took the above picture, are reaching the deer.

An enjoyable evening was spent in various contests, with honors going to Mrs. Herluf Sorenson, for the best made Valentine, and Mrs. Wm. LaGross for the guessing game, and Miss Eva Madsen, for decorating a paper plate. Later in the evening a tasty lunch was served by the hostess, with the St. Valentine motif carried throughout. All voted Miss Hanson a perfect hostess.

Friday night fire that caught from an oil burner damaged the building John Stephan Jr., used as a work shop on the property of his mother Mrs. John Knecht, down the river. Housed in the building were two boats John had recently built, besides material on hand for others. These were saved through the quick work of his sons, Ray and Norman, and Roger Deckrow who occupying a cabin nearby were just retiring for the night, when looking out of the window they noticed flames. Partly dressed the fellows hurried to the building and removed the two finished boats to safety and extinguished the fire. One of the boats was slightly damaged but it can easily be repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wolf of Higgins Lake are the proud parents of a son, George Walter, born to them Thursday, February 8.

Mrs. Earl Dawson was hostess to the Danish Sisterhood at her home Tuesday afternoon. The lunch table was pretty in its St. Valentine decorations, and the hostess served ice cream with a frozen heart in the center, and dainty heart shaped cookies.

The Grayling Health Unit met at the home of Mrs. Hurl Deckrow, Friday, with fourteen ladies present. The matter of sewing children's clothing for the Finnish Relief was discussed during the afternoon. A delicious pot luck lunch was served. Mrs. Sylvia Peterson was a guest.

Tentative plans have been made to make Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Jr. National Trout King of Kalkaska National Trout Festival, which will be staged April 26-27. One of the largest festivals yet staged will be held on these dates. Good wholesome fun for everyone. This will be the eighth annual National Trout Festival.

Coming on the Snow trains enroute from Detroit each Sunday to assist in keeping law and order is George Belanger, a detective for the M. C. R. R. Mr. Belanger who was a former resident of Grayling went out to the Winter Sports park and looked up some old friends, who were glad to see him again. The family reside in Detroit.

A coming attraction worth your time to see will be the basketball game next Tuesday night, Feb. 20th at the school gym when the Moose team will play a return game with the colored team from CCC Camp Houghton Lake. In a previous game these two teams put on an exhibition that kept the crowd on their toes every minute and it took an overtime period to determine the winner. There will be a good preliminary beginning at 7:30 o'clock between Grayling Recreation team and the Frederic Independents. Price for the evening's performances is 25c per person.

Out of the State Senatorial District just south of our own comes some encouraging reports, and the most encouraging is that former Senator Ben Carpenter of Harrison, will toss his hat into the political ring again this year, seeking the office he relinquished a few years back, just because he had become tired of politics and wanted to get back into business. Ben is of that rugged, he-man type that has a mind, an independent kind of a mind, and speaks it when occasion demands. He is not a political horse trader, He and Senator Cal Campbell of our own district made a very strong and useful team. There was never any doubt or question about their position or their methods of procedure. The senatorial district south of us is now in need of Ben Carpenter's kind. A representative that wins plaudits by constructive accomplishments and example and not by senatorial display in front of conventions.—Al Weber In Cheboygan Observer.

SCHOOL NEWS

GRAYLING SCHOOL

"What 'some of the Grayling students do in college' might be the heading for the story contained in the records that Richard Brady and Emil Tahvonen have been compiling for themselves at the Bay City Business College.

According to the marks sent to the High school by the Bay City institution these boys have earned a set of marks of which any person could well be proud. With "C" being the average mark for all students these boys showed great contempt for such a mark and collected only one "C" while grabbing off 13 B's and 10 A's to place themselves definitely on the honor roll. In addition these boys both work on outside jobs which makes their record all the more remarkable. Congratulations and more power to you, boys.

(Too late for last week)
Thunderbolts Defeat Grayling High, 32-25

Friday, Coach Hasty's Thunderbolts of Alpena took the measure of the Green and White by a score of 25-32.

In the early stages the game seemed to be destined a purely defensive battle as neither team could successfully dent the defense of the other.

In the later stages however both offenses began to click, at least to a certain extent, and the score began to mount. In the last half Alpena gradually pulled up on even terms and went on to cop the win by a 7 point margin.

Basketball Trophies Received

A reminder that the District tournament is not very far away came Monday in the form of balls and trophies shipped here by the State Athletic Assn.

The trophies awarded to the winners in Class "C" and "D" are identical except for the class engraved on them. They depict a basketball player in the act of shooting; this is mounted on a standard, and all in all will form a welcome addition to the winners' trophy case.

Entry blanks are due from the competing schools by Feb. 15th, and the drawings will probably be held Feb. 27th.

Florida vacations seem to be the order of the day, at least for a couple of lucky seniors, as Virginia Peterson left in company with her parents last week and Arline Laage plans to leave this week end. A pleasant trip and best wishes for a grand time girls.

The Seniors are taking their vocational guidance tests this week. Some short time later Mr. C. F. Hamilton will be in Grayling to interpret these tests.

Boys Home Ec. Class Meets

Monday night after school the boys Home Ec. class met and a more determined group has seldom been seen. French toast was the order of the day and with a do-or-die attitude the 16 boys comprising the class waded in. To call the result anything less than a culinary success would be a grave error as proved by the rapidity with which the toast disappeared as the boys sampled their first cooking efforts.

The class was organized with the idea of fulfilling a desire on the part of the boys to learn at least enough about cooking so they wouldn't starve to death if thrown on their own resources for a few days. A knowledge of plain cooking is gained and all in all it is a very worthwhile project. Miss McKibbin, the new Home Ec. instructor, is in charge.

FREDERIC SCHOOL

Primary

Every day Mrs. Quick reads to the little boys and girls in the primary room. You would be surprised how quiet they are while she is reading. They seem to be all ears.

Last week Mrs. Quick took the children out to Hummel's dairy to watch the pasteurization of milk. Mrs. Quick said she was surprised how much they remembered.

The third grade invited the primary room and the fifth grade in to see their Snow White movie.

Everyone is busy making igloos outside. The best one will win a prize.

The third grade had a valentine party Thursday. Mrs. Caid gave them a treat. They also gave their mothers valentines that they made for them.

7th and 8th Grade

The seventh grade are making some very pretty valentines this week down in Mrs. Quick's room.

Mrs. Madsen keeps a paddle on her desk in the seventh and eighth grade room—just in case!

The seventh grade boys won a basketball game from the ninth grade. The ninth grade ought to grow up! eh, Johnny? And by the way, Johnny, when going on basketball trips, better stay away from the high school girls.

Carl Richter is back in school after several weeks of illness. Doris Harmer is glad of that, aren't you Doris? They say the redheads are catching up. What do you think, Carl?

Poor Victor, if he only could remember his English like he can license plates he could really get some place.

The teachers have special meetings after school for some of the high school students.

Economics don't prove to be so interesting between those two covers, does it Phil?

The speech class have been giving a series of speeches during the past week. We sure will be glad when it's all over. And by the way, who was laughing in speech class? Anyway the class stayed after school until 5:30 Thursday night. Some fun while it lasted but was Mr. Lee mad?

The Home Ec. girls have been studying good grooming for the past week. Yesterday their teacher, Mrs. Madsen, gave a demonstration on shampoos and hair-do's. How do you like the hair set, "Buddy"?

Last Thursday night the High School first team defeated Indian River by one point. It was our eighth victory of the season, with six losses. Our team's captain, Elmer Kellogg, came through very nicely, tying the score. When the overtime started, Elmer came through again and we won the game. We beat Indian River there with the same margin of one point.

Wednesday night the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth grades went to the Grayling winter sports park and enjoyed an evening of skating. Afterwards they returned to Frederic for a party at the school.

The 4-H Club leaders motored to Kalkaska where they learned some valuable and useful pointers.

Say kids, have you seen that weekly paper put out by Vic Parsons entitled "Wild West Mysteries"? It's really some pin.

A few members of the band are "Rolling Out the Barrel" and trying to get "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

CCC Camp News

CAMP HIGGINS LAKE

672nd Co. CCC S-95 (Mich)

The enrollees contributed $5.00 to the fund to help fight the infantile paralysis, and this money was turned over to Mr. Gerald Poor, superintendent of schools at Grayling.

Mr. Charles Stilwell, CCC photographer, took some interesting pictures at the Grayling Winter Sports carnival.

The Camp basketball team lost to Gladwin in the first round of the Houghton Lake basketball tournament on Feb. 1st. The team missed the services of Gordon Tregoning, veteran guard. Dizmang was high point man for the game.

On Friday, Feb. 2nd, the basketball team journeyed to Gaylord and was trounced by the Gaylord Independents by the score of 34-17.

The Camp photography room has just been completed and furnished with new equipment. Many of the enrollees are enthusiastic about the photography class under the supervision of Mr. Stilwell.

The Camp basketball team lost to West Branch in the second round of the Roscommon Independent tournament on Friday, Feb. 9th. The Camp team was without the services of Dizmang, Tregoning and E. Smith, three of their regulars, but played a hard game and held West Branch in check throughout most of the game.

Company Dance Held Feb. 9th

On Friday evening, Feb. 9th, a company dance was held in the Mess Hall from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. It was a very successful party and was well attended by our friends from Grayling, Roscommon and vicinity.

A delicious lunch was held about 11:30 p. m. and the music was furnished by a Traverse City orchestra.

The committees that served for this party were as follows: Music—Rochester, Olson and F. Van Camp.

Refreshments—Korr, B. Sweet, Thompson, Floyd, Sachet.

Decorations—Flahive, Karpin, Johnnick.

Enrollees who have recently been given Assistant Leader ratings are as follows: Robert McLellan, B. Smith, and David Griffin. These ratings carry a bonus of $6.00 per month and are given for outstanding work in the field and for qualities of leadership.

This company had a record of no A.W.O.L.'s during the period Jan. 1st to Jan. 31st. This indicates a superior moral on the part of this company and we hope that Higgins Lake will continue to lead the other CCC Companies in this respect.

Taxpayers To Meet In Flint Feb. 23

GRAYLING SHOULD BE REPRESENTED AT MEETING

Taxpayers of Michigan will hold their first state-wide convention at Flint, Friday, February 23. You are cordially invited to attend. Hosts for the meetings are the Genesee County Taxpayers Association and the Michigan Public Expenditure Survey.

Sessions will include an afternoon program, a dinner program and a public mass meeting in the evening. The program will deal only with non-political subjects such as operating local taxpayers' associations; fact finding in local communities; discussion of high costs, high taxes, and tax problems concerning local, county, and state governments, and what the individual taxpayer can do about them.

Among the speakers will be Frank G. Arnold, famous president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues, which led the one hundred seventy-five million dollar tax saving fight in Nebraska, and Fred A. Eldean, director of the National Tax Foundation, who will tell Michigan taxpayers what local communities are doing about their high taxes in other states.

State-wide attendance has been assured for the Flint program. Since everybody in this country will have to work fourteen weeks to pay for the cost of our government in 1940 we urge you to devote one day to your tax problem as it applies in your home town and your state. We urge you not only to attend yourself, but to bring a delegate from your association or your community.

Genesee County Taxpayers Association.

Mississippi River Piloting Offers Job Opportunities

Development of a nine-foot Mississippi river channel near Davenport, Iowa, resulting in an increase on towboat operations on the upper river has disclosed a shortage of good pilots.

Navigation companies report that plenty of positions are open at pay well above $300 a month. Board, room and laundry are furnished.

The major drawback to piloting is the hours involved. On a round trip from St. Louis to Minneapolis, for instance, the pilot may get away from the boat about 24 hours. Sometimes there are shorter periods of freedom when the boat is docked at a terminal.

Then, too, on the upper river a pilot usually draws pay for only about nine months. In some cases a barge line will guarantee a ten-month salary.

During the navigation season the captain and the pilot each stand two six-hour watches at the wheel. The pilot's or aft watch is usually from midnight to six a. m. and from noon to six p. m.

Two courses are open to youths wishing to become river pilots. One is to become a steersman, in reality an apprentice pilot. The other is to start at the bottom as deckhand and work up. In either case, knowledge of the river in its various moods is essential.

World Traveler Sees

Tibet as Gold Rush Site

Far-off Tibet, where the lowest altitude is higher than Pike's peak, will be the scene of the world's next major gold rush, in the opinion of Harrison Forman, 35-year-old world traveler.

"There is a great deal of gold in Tibet," according to the young explorer.

Then he added: "I have seen tons of it on the roofs of Tibetan monasteries and there is more in the ground and streams. However, it's of no value to anyone because it's impossible at present to get it to the outside world."

"The country has no railroads and no highways. There isn't a wheel in all of Tibet and the metal is too heavy to be hauled on the backs of animals."

Forman believed the development of an airplane motor powerful enough to fly heavy freight will be the ultimate solution.

California Mystery House

The Winchester House of California, built by the widow of the famous firearms manufacturer, is about four miles from San Jose and two miles from Campbell in the Santa Clara valley. Mrs. Winchester, a spiritualist, believed that she had received a message from the spirit world that she would not die as long as the sound of hammers was heard in the house. As a result, it is a strange composite of architecture with steps leading nowhere, strangely placed balconies and some rooms no larger than one foot wide. It is estimated that at least a million dollars was spent on the structure, parts of which have not been explored.

Peach Tree Borer

One good whiff of ethylene dichloride and the peach tree borer bores no more, says the Country Home Magazine. This new killing agent is a colorless liquid with an odor like chloroform. An emulsion is made by mixing nine parts of the chemical with one part of potash fishoil soap and 50 parts of water. The recommended dose, for a three-year-old tree, is one-half pint (one cent's worth) of this mixture, poured around the base of the tree, on bark and soil alike. Weaker emulsions are used on younger trees, and stronger ones on older trees. September and October are the best months in which to apply the poison.

Courtesy in Spain

If a visitor asks a Spaniard in Spain where the post office is located, or how to find the way back to the hotel, the Spaniard is not only all polite attention, but will often take the tourist by the arm and go with him till his destination is in sight.

Fastest Growing City

Houston, Texas, lays claim to the title of the South's fastest-growing community as publishers of a new city directory listed a population of 421,617, a gain of 38,865 since 1936. Births in Houston averaged 19.39 a thousand population during the last year and deaths 11.58 a thousand.

Another 'Tame' Robin

Mrs. Carl G. Hall, West Hartford, Conn., nursed an injured robin to health and the bird adopted her home as its own. The robin likes to fly around in the trees nearby, but when she whistles it dashes back into the house through an open window.

New Town in California

A new town has been added to the map with the official selection of Toyon as the name for the government's settlement of 400 workers building huge Shasta dam in California. The term comes from a striking red berry that grows on surrounding hills.

Complete Christmas Seal Sales

The first rural schools in Crawford county to complete their 1939 sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals were the Feldhauser school near Grayling, Mrs. Jane Nelliot, teacher, and the Frederic school at Frederic, Mr. Herbert Piippo, teacher; the Michigan Tuberculosis Association announced today. A number of schools are sending in requests for more seals.

Funds realized from the sale of Christmas Seals finance a number of health education activities in the schools. The inspirational "Princess Watassa" program is given throughout the school months; sound movies are available to parent-teacher associations and shown to children in the upper grades; and the Wolverine Health Bulletin is distributed monthly to all rural schools. This is designed to assist both teacher and pupils in their health programs.

ARE YOU AWARE

By HAMILTON BUTLER

That the railroads of this country pay nearly $1,000,000 a day in taxes?

That 29 per cent of this tax money goes to the support of the public schools?

That railroad taxes are sufficient to finance the schooling of 1,300,000 children for one year?

That burdensome taxation is driving the railroads toward Government ownership and operation?

That if the Government takes over the railroads there will be no more local taxation of the roads for educational or other purposes?

Motor Vehicle Taxes
Special taxes paid by motor vehicle users in 1938 produced virtually enough revenue to pay for all the new cars and trucks that were purchased during the year.
